DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims 1-4 and 9-31 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the reply filed on 2/23/09. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 5, 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weydert et al. US 2004/0122134.

4. The rejection set forth under 35 USC 103 in the paper mailed 5/13/09 is deemed proper and is herein repeated. The amendments, remarks and declaration filed in support thereof have been fully considered but have been found not persuasive.

5. The claims have been amended to recite "grafting ratio of the polar group-containing monomer is 0.01-5.0% by mass per the natural rubber latex, and a content of the modified natural rubber component of the rubber composition is at least 15% by mass." It is argued that the Weydert fails to teach the claimed grafting ratio and content of rubber component in the composition. This is not persuasive. The claimed grafting ration is rendered obvious by the disclosure in the last 3 lines of [0016]. Here the grafting monomers are disclosed and the amount of monomer is stated as being from 1 to 20 weight percent. This amount of grafting monomer is seen to significantly overlap the claimed range. Given the significant overlap, the claimed amount is obvious.

6. The rubber gel content is disclosed at [0013]. Here 5 to 50 phr of starch/plasticizer composite and rubber gel is taught as being the suitable content. Further, the ratio of starch/plasticizer to rubber gel is between 1:10 and 10:1.

Compositions containing at least 15% rubber gel significantly overlap the disclosed range of rubber gel. Given the significant overlap, the claimed amount is obvious.

7. The declaration has been fully considered but fails to sufficiently rebut the prima facie case of obviousness set forth herein. The showing fails to compare the closest art and does not support the breadth of the claim. Specifically, the reported properties at table A do not support the allegations of unexpected results. Comparing the properties of example 4 with comparative examples 2 and 3, one appreciates a slight drop in strength, crack growth resistance, tan and rolling resistance. This is not unexpected given the grafting ratio of the comparative examples is 10% and 15%. This is compared to 4.8% in example 4. The ratios compared are greater than 2 and 3 times the ratio representing the invention. The art renders obvious grafting ratios of 5%, 6%, 7%, etc. There is no support for the allegations of unexpected results when the claimed limit of 5% is compared to the closest art being 6%. As such the compared 10% does not represent the closest art.

8. The showing in the declaration uses N,N-diethylaminoethyl methacrylate as the grafting polar monomer. The claims are open to a broad array of polar monomers.

Art Unit: 1796

There are no reasons of record to expect unexpected results for all polar monomers falling within the scope of the claims. As such, the declaration does not support the breadth of the claims.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
